Statement of trustees Responsibilities

The Trustees are responsible for preparing the Report of the Trustees and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charity and the incoming resources and application of resources including the income and expenditure of the charity for that period. In preparing those financial statements the trustees are required in.

- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently:
- Observe the methods and principles of charity SORP:
- Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent:
- Prepare the financial statements the going concern basis unless it is appropriate to presume that the charity will continue in business.

Orphan Aid Scotland

Report of the Trustees For the year ended 31st May 2025

The trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charity and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the companies act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charity and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

In so far as the trustees are aware:

- There is no relevant information of which the charity accountants are unaware; and
- Ther trustees have taken all the steps that they ought to have taken to make themselves aware of any relevant financial information and to establish that the accountants are aware of that information.

Accounting Report to the Trustees of Orphan Aid Scotland

Opinion

We have prepared the financial statement of ORPHAN AID SCOTLAND for the year ended 31st May 2025 which comprise of the Income and Expenditure Account.

In our opinion the Income and Expenditure Account:

- Give a true and fair view of the state of the charities affairs as at 31st May 2025 and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including its income and expenditure, for the year ended;
- Have been properly prepared in accordance with the United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- Have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Charities and Trustees Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and Regulation 8 of the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulation 2006.

Basis for opinion

We prepared the Income and Expenditure account with UK standards on accounting and applicable law. We are independent of the charity in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to the preparation of the Accounts in the UK including the FRC Ethical Standard, and the provisions available for small entities, we believe that the financial evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusion relating to a going concern

In preparing the Accounts we have concluded that the trustees' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the accounts is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt in the charities ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least 12 months from when the accounts are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the trustees with respect to going concern are described in the relevant section of this report.

Other information

The trustees are responsible for other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Annual Report, other than the financial statements and our report.

Our opinion on the accounts does not cover other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Matters on which we are report by exception

In light of the knowledge and understanding of the charity and its environment obtained in the course of preparing the accounts, we have not identified material misstatements in the Report of the Trustees.

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters where the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulation 2006 (as amended) requires us to report to you if, in our opinion.

- Adequate and proper accounting records have not been kept or returns adequate for the accounts preparation have not been received: or
- The financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns: or
- We have not received all the information and explanations we require for preparing the accounts:

Responsibilities of trustees

As explained more fully in the Statement of the Trustees' Responsibilities, the trustees are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of the final accounts that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the trustees are responsible for assessing the charities ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the trustees intend to liquidate the charity or to cease operations, or to have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Our responsibilities for the preparation of the accounts.

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue a Report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these accounts.

The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below:

We gained an understanding of the legal and regulatory framework applicable to the charity and the sector in which it operates and considered the risks of acts by the charity that were contrary to applicable laws and regulations, including fraud. We designed procedures to respond to the risk, recognising that the risk of not detecting fraud may involve concealment by, for example, forgery or intentional misrepresentations, or through collusion.

We focused on laws and regulations which could give rise to a material misstatement in the financial statements, including but not limited to, the Companies act 2006 and UK tax legislation. Our test included agreeing the financial statements disclosures to underlying supporting documentation and, enquiries with the trustees. There are inherent limitations in the procedures described above and, the further removed non-compliance with laws and regulations is from the events and transactions reflected in the Accounts, the less likely we would become aware of it. We did not identify key matters relating to irregularities, including fraud. We also addressed the risk of management override of internal controls, including testing journals and evaluating whether there was evidence of bias by the directors that represented a risk of material misstatement due to fraud.
