Summary of the main activities and achievements of the charity

Tech for Good: Closing the digital divide is at the heart of our work. We provided 113 laptops in good working conditions to UK Refugees and Asylum seekers (R/A) to ensure the lack of access to a laptop does not prevent them from benefitting from the online accredited courses and mentoring services we provide.

We also donated 8 laptops to a fellow refugee and asylum seekers organisation we partner with. These laptops are held in their office and are used by approximately 60 refugees and asylum seekers weekly.

Education and mentoring: We matched 6 service users (clients) with courses which are relevant to any experience they have had in their home country, or to courses that support their current professional plans, to help them transfer or update qualifications for their chosen employability choices.

Our online accredited courses are accessible 24/7, with mentor supporting mentees weekly through the courses to maximise their chances of receiving accreditation and a certificate to support their CV readiness and journey towards employment. Each client is given a target at their initial assessment to work towards when they jointly develop their work plan with their mentors. Mentors are kept in regular contact to ensure the clients remain on track, ensuring we achieve our success rate of 90% of those completing an accredited course.

We also contribute to university fees of those who cannot afford to pay them.

This vital activity which advances education of R/A is bringing them one step closer to employment and therefore empowering them to break the cycle of poverty.

Employability: Through bilateral education of both asylum seekers and employers, we raise awareness about asylum seekers' right to work in the UK. This information is currently not common knowledge, resulting in great difficulty for asylum seekers to find work. As our programme focuses on education of this issue, and changing employment practices, we hope that the number of asylum seekers benefitting will be limitless.

As part of the programme, we match R/A with companies that offer jobs that match their qualifications to improve their financial situation and enable them to integrate.

Policy on reserves	The reserves policy is at £2,500. The Board intends to gradually build the reserves to a more sustainable level over the coming years while ensuring that funds remain focused on charitable delivery.
