Structure, governance and management

Type of governing document

The Squadron is an unincorporated charity organisation with purpose and administrative arrangements set out in the constitution.

Trustee recruitment and appointment

Trustees comprise the 'Civilian Committee'. The Committee is drawn from suitable members of the local community, with office bearers of a Chairperson, Honorary Secretary, Honorary Treasurer. Parents of cadets are encouraged to participate by joining the committee. Existing members for the committee elect suitable new members. One third of the office bearers must retire by rotation every year at the annual general meeting attended by parents and other interested members of the local community, but may offer themselves for re-election.

Objectives and activities

Charitable purposes

The purpose as recorded in the constitution shall be to provide support to the Squadron in all its many activities and uphold the 3 aims of the Air Training Corps;

1. To promote & encourage among young people a practical interest in aviation & the Royal Air Force.
2. To provide training which will be useful both in service & civilian life.
3. To foster the spirit of adventure & to develop the qualities of leadership and good citizenship.

Summary of the main activities in relation to these objects

The squadron meet twice a week where every evening is different. We teach weapon handling, radios, aviation classes, drill, first aid, sports, flight simulator and many other activities. At weekends and throughout the year there are many camps in the UK and overseas on military bases, adventure training for Duke of Edinburgh, rock climbing, flying, shooting, canoeing, athletics, swimming, hockey, football, rugby, netball, field craft and lots more.

APPENDIX 1

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the financial period

During the period 1 April 2025 to 31 March 2026 the Squadron maintained a full programme of parade nights, weekend training and camps, enabling cadets to progress through the ATC training syllabus and participate in a wide range of aviation, adventure training and community activities. Regular funds from subscriptions and fundraising activity were used to support equipment, camps and general activities, helping to keep participation affordable and maximising opportunities for cadets.

Key achievements and performance highlights

- Delivered twice-weekly parade nights covering aviation and radio training, drill, first aid, fieldcraft, leadership and team-building.
- Supported cadet participation in Duke of Edinburgh's Award training and expeditions, plus a range of adventure training opportunities.
- Enabled access to core RAFAC activities such as shooting and marksmanship, flight simulation, and opportunities to attend UK camps and activities on military establishments.
- Maintained strong sporting participation through inter-squadron and wing activities (including athletics, swimming and team sports), promoting fitness and teamwork.

The Trustees consider that these activities delivered clear public benefit by providing structured youth development, practical skills and leadership opportunities, aligned to the aims of the Air Training Corps.

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

As at 31st March 2026 the charity had £19,550.08 in the bank which the trustees consider to be appropriate to allow them to respond promptly to requests for financial support.

Details of any deficit

Donated facilities and services (if any)
